

Mike Uster

Chief Information Officer
ManTech International Corporation

Mike Uster is the chief information officer (CIO) and a senior vice president at ManTech, a position he's held since August 2015.

As CIO, Mr. Uster directs the enterprise's managed services, making ManTech a leader in custom tailored solutions that innovate, modernize and transform IT for employees and customers. End result: dramatic gains in systems that improve user experience, satisfaction and productivity.

Mr. Uster joined ManTech in 2005 as a vice president and quickly advanced to senior vice president in roles spanning the design of business management system solutions, contract and supply chain management, RFP analysis, finance, program controls, and contract negotiations and close-out. For his leadership in developing ManTech's Supplier Management System, CIO Magazine named Mr. Uster to its distinguished "Top 100 CIO" list in 2012.

In his 35 years as a government contractor, Mr. Uster has also worked at Northrop Grumman, Lockheed's "Skunk Works," the RAND Corporation, TRW, Metric Systems and Object Sciences Corporation on assignments throughout the United States and in Egypt, Oman and Turkey.

Mr. Uster is a graduate of Biola University with a Bachelor of Art in Modern European History.
